Dear Members of the RNFOO Nursing Innovation Grants Committee,

I am writing to express my strong support for the proposed project of a Virtual Education Toolkit for Palliative Care in Long-Term Care (LTC). This project, spearheaded by Cara Henry, aims to create a comprehensive virtual education toolkit that will serve as an essential resource for LTC staff, residents, and their families. The initiative will focus on enhancing the quality of palliative care delivery, which is critical for individuals at the end of life, and will directly address the unique challenges of the current LTC landscape.

As part of our organization and as a Nurse Practitioner Cara has demonstrated a thorough understanding of the complex needs of patients in end-of-life care situations. She has developed and implemented care plans while working with interdisciplinary teams to provide the highest quality of care to the patients she serves. Through her leadership and experience, I am certain that this project will be a success and give rise to more initiatives in the LTC space.

The potential impact of this project is immeasurable. By equipping LTC staff with the necessary knowledge and tools, we will improve the overall experience for individuals in palliative care, ensuring that their dignity, comfort, and quality of life are maintained. Additionally, the toolkit will serve as a valuable resource for families navigating this challenging journey with their loved ones.

I strongly support this initiative and encourage you to consider funding this innovative project. It represents a meaningful investment in the future of palliative care in LTC settings, and I have no doubt it will positively impact many lives.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
